MARKET INSIGHT

In China, there are about 250 million people with hair loss problem, accounting for 17.7% of China's population. There are about 163 million men and about 88 million women. In the group with hair loss problem, the post-90s group accounted for 39.3%

In July 2023, the sales scale of hair care market in the online platform was about 1.3 billion yuan, an increase of 7.3%. With the improvement of Chinese consumers' awareness of hair loss, scalp health and other issues, and the enhancement of consumption willingness, China's hair care market is expected to usher in the spring of accelerated development.

COMB PRO

PAIN POINTS

Cleaning

Consumers are plagued by hair stuck in combs and residual essential oils. Our comb pro is designed to be water resistant so that when consumers clean it, they can just simply rinse it with water.

Multi-Functional

A massage comb or a essential oil comb with single function cannot meet the needs of consumers for hair care. Our comb pro is an all in one design with integrated hair care mode and massage mode.

Green

Our comb pro intelligently identifies and accurately locates hair follicles. Deliver essential oils to every pore accurately and without waste. And intelligent mode can precisely control the amount of essential oil.

Intelligent

Our combs and essential oil are packaged in biodegradable and environmentally friendly packaging. Can be recycled, will not pollute the environment.

TARGET CUSTOMERS

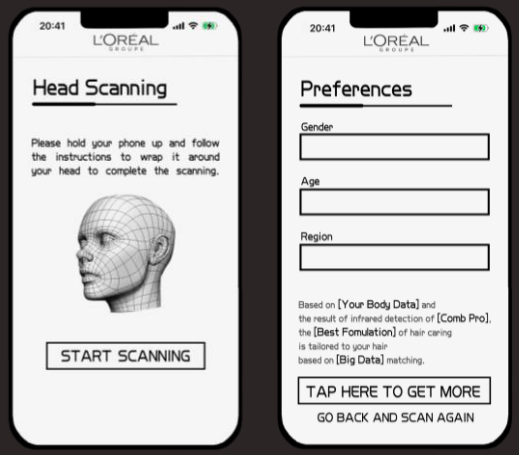

- Age 25-55 upper middle income group.
- Both male and female but mainly female.
- Working women who neglect to care for their hair due to the busy work.
- Suffer from hair loss, damaged hair, split ends and other hair problems.
- Concerned about the environment.

Imagine a scenario: you work late until 11 p.m. and you get home, exhausted. The entire day time is occupied by work or family. Only at night can you have your own free time. Take out our "Comb Pro" and turn on the massage mode for your own scalp relaxation.

VALUE PROPOSITION

The value proposition of this product is "LOVE YOURSELF", and it is committed to delivering the concept of "Love yourself first can you love others better". We expect that women in the new era can solve hair problems through our product, better care themselves and have a better lifestyle in life and career.
